

ANNUAL REPORT 2016-17

Partners

K-12 Students

Community Members

Artists

Executive Director's Message

How do you engage with YoloArts? Do you know us from Gallery 625? Or farm visits with the Art & Ag Project?

As I look back on the year, I am energized by the multiple ways people engage with the arts in Yolo County. The arts have the power to connect people, encourage dialogue, and create shared experiences where barriers may otherwise exist. It is a privilege to work alongside the artists, youth, agency partners, and the Yolo County community.

Projects such as I SEE YOU – arts engagement for people experiencing homelessness; At Ease on the Farm – art workshops on farms owned and operated by Yolo County veterans; Arts Marketing workshops for artists; Poetry Out Loud for Yolo County high school students; and Gallery 625 – our community's public art gallery – have been embraced by our diverse county.

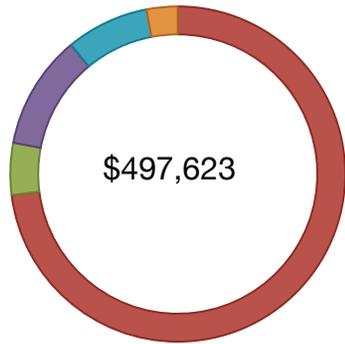

We strive to remain a dynamic and responsive resource by growing our existing programs and developing new ways to enrich your lives with the arts.

Thank you for joining us on Yolo County's arts journey.

Alison Flory
YoloArts Executive Director
aflory@yoloarts.org

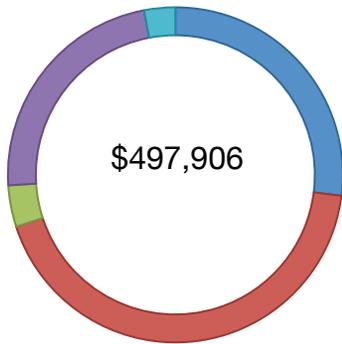

2016-17

Income

- grants/ program match 73%
- membership/ donations 5%
- fundraising 11%
- earned income 8%
- other 3%

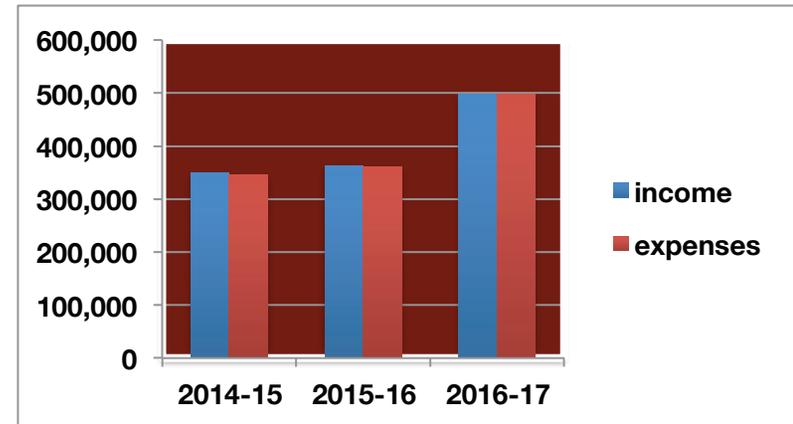

Expenses

- personnel 27%
- artist stipends/ commissions 43%
- fundraising 4%
- operations/ programming 23%
- other 3%

FINANCIALS

A three-year look of income and expenses (below) shows steady growth in the organization's finances. The 2016-17 income and expense summary (left) shows revenue sources and expense allocation. 43% of total expenses is invested in the art community in the form of commissions and stipend payments to artists – we are proud of this commitment to Yolo County's art economy.

Board of Directors

Matt Lane, President
Debra Gonella, Vice President
Lanette McClure, Treasurer
Todd Montgomery, Secretary

Susan Lord Bovey
Beth Jackson
Sara Pereida
Carol Rose
Terry Westover

YoloArts:
Cultivating and enriching lives
through the arts
since 1981.

Staff

Executive Director
Associate Director
Development Associate
Education Manager

Alison Flory
Janice Purnell
Natalie Peoples
Jenna Hans

P.O. Box 8250 | Woodland, CA |
95776 530-309-6464 | ya@yoloarts.org
www.yoloarts.org